modulex®

Messenger Interior's panels are modular and totally interchangeable making the system simple to update. There are wall-mounted, suspended, projecting and free-standing formats, so whatever your wayfinding requirements you will always find the ideal solution.

Beautifully finished

To ensure lasting quality, panels are stove-enamelled to your colour specifications. Panels are available in a complete range of colours including steel or brass effects in matt or polished finishes. Text and graphics are applied by vinyl or silk-screen printing and there is the option to use raised lettering and logos.

Simple to update

In situations where change is frequent, our unique electronic signs can display information and images on full colour screens. The system updates the screens automatically and guides your visitors to their destination using the name of their company or event. Where change is less frequent, a Paperflex system lets you print your own signs and display them behind a clear acrylic cover.

Engineered to perfection

Messenger Interior offers a wide selection of standard size panels, while other sizes can be custom-made. The panels are fixed to a robust frame to create a light, strong structure. All components are manufactured to ISO 9001 standards, guaranteeing consistency and quality of finish.
